Energy Efficiency Fund changes the management

- Yulia Holovatiuk-Ungureanu resigns from the position of director of the institution on September 10. A competition for the position of the Fund's director will be announced in early September.
- Until a new director is elected, these functions will be performed by one of the current members of the directorate.

The Fund started the registration for the 5th session of free online training course for co-owners under the Energodim program

- The sessions will take place in September under three modules, which consistently reveal all stages of the project of energy modernization of the building.
- The training will be conducted by the Fund's specialists, regional advisors of the Energy Efficiency in Ukraine Program and IFC experts.

Visit of media representatives to the individual heating point production

- Mass media representatives inspected the production of modular individual heating units at the plant in Kyiv region and learned about the principle of operation, functions and efficiency of installation of such equipment in multistorey buildings.
- One of the main advantages of individual heating units is the automatic regulation of the amount of heat supplied to the building depending on weather conditions.
